Step 2: Use these questions - and some of your own -
to facilitate a professional learning discussion informed by Speak Up data.

Step 3: Use the Student Discussion Guide to learn more from your students.

1. Have you or your colleagues assigned homework that required accessing the internet and been told by students that they could not complete it because they lacked access?

2. How often do you think you assign homework that requires internet access? How often do you think students go online to help do their homework?

3. How do you think our school could help students who don't have regular internet access? What do you think about some of the solutions other schools are considering (like USB drives, not assigning internet-dependent homework, wifi on buses, etc.)?

4. What are your other concerns when it comes to students having/needing access to the internet outside of school?
